The Mormon Elders at Work in Louisiana Distributing Tracts, Chased into a Swamp.

THE EXPLORER HAS AN AUDIENCE WITH THE QUEEN.

He Describes His African Journey to Her Majesty—Other News From Abroad.

LONDON, May 14.—Edmund Yates' case to the New York Tribune says: "Queen Victoria has been much interested in Mr. Stanley, and as she was determined to know him, she invited all the members of her family that were available to meet him. He drove from the station at Windsor on his arrival to Cranborne tower, Windsor park, where the Queen was having tea, and he had his first audience there, after which he drove back to the castle, where he was met by the Queen. After dinner he was despatched by the Queen to give a short account of his journey, which short account took over an hour to deliver.

The Queen has now given up her habit of standing after dinner in the gallery at Windsor, and as soon as she gets into the drawing room a chair is brought and she sits down, as she can now from lameness stand any length of time. The Queen always, nothing tires her so much as the drawing room, for the perpetual variety of colors dazzle and much fatigue her. She was, however, gracious and smiling, and no one would have guessed from her appearance that she was unwell.

"The visit of the Shah's first favorite wife to Europe will cost at least $20,000. Her journey from Teheran to Vienna occupied four weeks, and the expenses were $6,800. The fees of two surgeons who attended her in Vienna and operated on her left eye amounted to $1,000, and $1,000 has been paid for the hire of a villa at Franzensbad, where the Sultana is to go for a month before returning to Persia.

"The Sultana, who is just 42, but who looks like a very aged woman, has an immense influence over the Shah, who is devoted to her, and if she had died during the operation which she recently underwent the astrologer who advised the journey to Vienna would assuredly have been beheaded."

PRIZE FOR CAPRIVI

German Papers Speak Highly of the New Chancellor's Speech.

BERLIN, May 14.—The Berliner Tagblatt, referring to Chancellor von Caprivi's speech in the Reichstag, says: "It is only the naked truth to admit that all parties praise his triumph as the greater in that he had to cope with no less an antagonist than Herr Bismarck."

The Volks-Zeitung says the new Chancellor spoke like a polished gentleman. The Borsen Courier says the fact that the Chancellor discussed a weighty question without once indulging in vituperation of the Radicals or hinting at his opponents being foes of the Empire was indeed a sensational occurrence.

The National Zeitung, Vossische Zeitung, and other newspapers speak in high praise of Caprivi's courtesy to his opponents.

BAD PLACE FOR PROSELYTING.

Mormon Elders Chased into a Swamp, Where They Perish.

VERNON, La., May 14.—Two Mormon elders hailing from Utah have been tramping through Washington and discharging their proselyting duties. They had proselyted to a considerable extent. A party of eight women were secured to go west last week. Abram King, living six miles from here, had two daughters in the party. King and his son, with his neighbors, the wife of one of whom was with the converts, pursued the elders, and on capturing them tied them to a tree, and after stripping them and flogging them unmercifully, looted them and began firing on them. The Mormons ran into the swamps and have not been seen since. There is no doubt that they perished in the swamp.

DON'T LIKE FATHER McCABE.

Members of a Congregation Pull Up the Trees in the Church-Yard.

MALDEN, Minn., May 14.—The fight between the Rev. Father McCabe and his flock has broken out afresh. Members of the congregation visited the church-yard and grounds surrounding the parochial residence early last evening and pulled up half a dozen trees. Only three trees survive their vengeance, and the church-yard looks as if a cyclone had passed over the premises, the trees lying in every direction with their roots upturned to the sun. The far no longer action has been taken, but the matter has all been placed in the hands of Bishop Cotter of Winona. It is thought that Father McCabe will be removed.

Hot Reception for White-Caps.

ROCKPORT, Ind., May 14.—Last night a party of masked men went to the house of James Alwood in Luce township with the intention of "white-capping" him. Two of the others also received a few shots, but they escaped.

At 11 o'clock the market was quiet and firm, generally small, but in the afternoon the market was more active, and the coal stocks being the most prominent in the upward movement. ## THEY HELD UP A TOWN.

FRIGHTFUL DUEL WITH KNIVES IN AN OHIO TOWN.

Two Young Men Fight for a Half Hour and Until One Is Slain—Crimes.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, May 13.—There was a desperate fight here with knives this morning between James Mault and Spencer Huston, and the struggle ended in the death of the former, he being stabbed to the heart.

Mrs. Huston, a widow and mother of the murderer, keeps a boarding-house and is in straightened circumstances. Mault boarded with the woman and loaned her some money so that she could purchase some pieces of needed furniture.

As payment for this loan Mault insisted upon taking unlimited liberties in the house, and succeeded in gaining such an influence over the widow that they were soon living only together.

This so enraged the woman's son, who was working in a neighboring town, that he came to Portsmouth this morning, and, learning the true state of affairs, went to his mother's house and announced his intention of killing both Mault and Huston. The latter on seeing the son enter the house attempted to escape, but young Huston grabbed the man by the coat and dragged him back into the kitchen.

"You coward, your end has come," exclaimed the young man as he drew a revolver from his pocket.

Mault, who had become desperate, grabbed up a large carving knife and rushed at the young man. The latter dropped his weapon and with the remark that he would not take advantage of his opponent, succeeded in securing another carving-knife from the kitchen table.

Both men were powerful and a desperate struggle began. The two fought for half an hour, everything in the room being bespattered with their blood. Both were weak from the loss of blood, but they could hardly hold the knife-handle at the expiration of thirty minutes.

Finally Huston succeeded in planting the blade between Mault's ribs, when he was on the floor, and, throwing his entire weight upon the weapon, he drove it up to the hilt into his body, the steel penetrating the victim's heart.

Young Huston, covered with blood, then endeavored to find his mother, whom he also declared he would kill, but the woman had fled from the house as soon as the gory struggle began.

The assassin had returned to the house and was preparing to mutilate the body of his victim when the town marshal and several citizens arrived and without difficulty placed the young man under arrest. As soon as he was relieved of the bloody knife he was taken to the jail, where he is now confined, exclaiming as he fell to the floor:

"Father, you are avenged!"

The sympathy of everyone in the town is with the young man, and it is doubtful if a jury can be secured in this part of the State to convict him.

Friends of the prisoner say that he is insane and they intend to make that plea the chief argument in his defense if the case comes to trial.

THEY 'HELD UP' THE TOWN.

Alleged High-Handed Conduct of Cedar Keys (Fla.) Officials.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 14.—News is received from Cedar Keys, Fla., that that city has been in a terrible commotion since Saturday. The Mayor and Marshal, it is said, are holding carnival. The lighthouse keeper had a pistol discharged at him while he was on the street and was warned to stay at home. An Episcopal clergyman and his wife have left the city to avoid horse-whipping. The United States collector has been held up, it is alleged, by the Mayor and his ally, the town marshal, and threatened with imprisonment if he stepped out of his office and R. M. Dozier, agent of the Florida Central railroad, was waylaid and an attempt made to shoot him.

The telegraph operator was terribly beaten by a negro, the mayor being charged with holding a loaded pistol to the negro's head and forcing him to do the whipping. It is further averred that several ladies have been insulted and many of the oldest and leading citizens have left the place.

FIVE YEARS FOR FESSENDEN.

The Boston Defaulter Ends His Downward Course in Prison.

BOSTON, Mass., May 14.—Charles P. Fessenden, whose shortcomings while in the employ of the agents of the Provident Life Assurance society of New York have been recorded, was sentenced to five years in State prison. Since last October he has stolen $9,000, and his family has repaid several thousand dollars which he had embezzled previous to that time. He possesses many of the characteristics of his uncle in the matter of adroit financial maneuvering, but makes a wrong use of them.

Judge Wallace's Explanation.

May 14.—A Private States Judge Wallace is preparing forth his reasons for granting writ of habeas corpus in the Kemmer case. Says the judge: "The writ was granted so that it might operate as a temporary stay, to allow a man under sentence of death a chance to be heard by the court of last resort. Whatever I may have thought as to the gravity of the questions raised, I knew that I was in no position to be unwilling to permit a man to lose his life by possible error of mine, when by a temporary stay he could obtain the opinion of the Supreme court."

Mr. Jones of Arkansas next addressed the Senate in criticism of the pending bill. He said the bill as it stood should never become a law, but should be amended by making it provide at least for the unlimited coinage of silver whenever the price reached the point which the government ceased to purchase. This was an absolute necessity unless the purpose was to destroy silver as money. Those who would vote for the bill as it stood certainly intended the demonstration of silver and gold.
